Chairman's Welcome

A very warm welcome is extended to all visitors attending our first Northern Ireland Beef Event at the excellent facilities provided by the Wylie family at Dungannon Mart.

The Theme adopted for this year's event "Beef – Our Future Together" comes at a time when the beef industry is enjoying a long overdue revival of fortunes with finished prime stock selling at a 15 year high since the ravages of BSE in the mid 1990's and the obvious knock on effect of lifting breeding stock, store and calf prices boosting returns to the suckler producer and dairy farmer with beef crosses.

Any hint of euphoria is always tempered with caution having seen how the industry has been pole-axed in the past by unforeseen problems. Although returns appear to be gaining momentum the increasing costs of inputs always affects the overall margins.

This year's event will be concentrating on increasing those margins by efficient use of products, systems and "tools of the trade" available to suit a wide and varying range of finishing and rearing systems in operation throughout Northern Ireland.

With almost 80 trade stands covering all aspects of beef farmer's requirements, together with 14 Beef Breed Societies/Demonstrations, will provide visitors with a comprehensive insight to rearing systems, handling, feeding, veterinary items and marketing choices available to the modern beef producer. This coupled to a comprehensive seminar programme and "Question Time" panel covering topical matters should be another great attraction.

A massive amount of preparation and organising has gone into the event and I, on behalf of the local organising committee would like to take this opportunity to record our sincere thanks to all the sponsors, breed societies, trade stand holders and individuals who have made the 2010 NBA NI Beef Expo possible. Thanks also to the numerous participants at all levels who combine to make up what we hope will be an exciting event.

The National Beef Association - Northern Ireland Council is working hard to get a better deal for beef farmers, whether that be with supermarkets, beef processors and DARD to name a few. If you are not already a member of the association, I would strongly consider visiting the NBA stand (No 26) at the event and joining as a member or at least find out what the council is doing on your behalf.

On a final note, I would like to thank the organising committee and the National Beef Association NI Council for all the work they have done in the preparation of this event.

We very much hope that everyone visiting this year's event will find something to interest them and ultimately help them make future decisions.

Ulster Bank – Mainline Sponsor

The NI beef industry has moved significantly in the last numbers of years. In common with GB and RI beef numbers have fallen and prices have risen slightly. This is the first year since decoupling of headage payments that farmers will manage to retain most if not all of their SFP. The stronger euro has helped but the sector cannot rely on currency rates to dictate its future. Much more remains to be done if farmers are to make profits which will allow them to grow and develop their business.

Beef Expo NI brings together a mix of DARD's advisory and technology transfer information, commercial farmers and breeders, beef processors and retailers and other support businesses. The aim is to help move the industry forward at a time when demand for beef remains high and farmers are more confident of the future. The local NBA committee has done a superb job in bringing together the various strands of the NI beef industry and we wish them well with the day.

Ulster Bank is delighted to support the event. We want to continue to provide support to farm businesses seeking to grow and develop. Our representatives will be on our stand number 36 at the event should you wish to discuss how we could help support your business.

Seminar Speaker Profiles

Technical Seminars

William Johnston, Beef and Sheep Adviser at CAFRE, based in Enniskillen will be speaking on the Management of the Suckler Herd to Optimise Fertility. William was involved in the development of the CAFRE Suckler Herd Fertility Challenge and will outline the key points relating to feeding, breeding and general herd management which affect herd fertility. His presentation will include results from over 150 herds who have participated in the Suckler Herd Fertility Challenge over the past two years.

Maria Guelbenzu, Veterinary Research Officer, AFBI, Veterinary Sciences Division will outline the key requirements of the AFBI Cattle Health Scheme and will summarise the diseases it covers. Maria will also highlight the main benefits to participating herds which will be improved animal health and welfare, leading to increased productivity in suckler herd.

William Haire, cattle breeder and 2009 Nuffield Farming Scholar will be speaking on the topic Unleashing your herds genetic potential, focusing on breeding programme design and the elements that contribute to its success. The presentation will also cover EBV's, Gene markers, as well as other management and decision making tools.

Alistair Carson, Project Leader, Sustainable Livestock Systems, AFBI Hillsborough will outline key findings from the Bovine Information System (BovIS) which is a single unified beef phenotypic database using data from APHIS and meat plants. Alistair will outline how this database can provide information for beef producers to direct decisions regarding breeding and management.

Dr Denise Lowe, Beef and Sheep Technologist at CAFRE, Greenmount campus will be talking on Beef from Grass with particular emphasis on use of grass clover swards. Denise coordinates the three farmer-driven Grass Clover Monitor Farm Groups in N. Ireland and she will outline their function. Grassland management at the Abbey Farm at Greenmount Campus will also be discussed.

Dr Lynne Dawson, Project Leader, Sustainable Beef Systems, AFBI Hillsborough will be speaking on the Carbon Footprint of beef production. Lynne will outline mechanisms by which carbon footprint can be reduced with particular reference to methane from livestock and manure management and nitrous oxide from fertilisers.

Marketing Seminars

Conall Donnelly, Economist at the Livestock and Meat Commission for Northern Ireland, will be talking on the prospects for the red meat market in 2010. He will brief delegates on European and UK trends as well as providing some information on International trends forecast for 2010.

Phelim O'Neill, Chief Executive of the Northern Ireland Meat Exporters Association (NIMEA), will discuss the specifications of cattle that are required by the slaughter industry in Northern Ireland, why they are needed and how the specification arrangements introduced in November 2009 are settling in.

Eamon Kelly is Business Development Officer with Aberdeen Angus Quality Beef Ltd (AAQB). Eamon will be discussing AAQB's supply chain partnership, which includes its members – Foyle Food Group and Tesco NI.

Seamus Scallan is a partner in the Wicklow Cattle Company Ltd, a family run business specialising in the supply of livestock to farms throughout Ireland and in the export of weanlings and calves to UK, Holland, Spain and Italy. Seamus will discuss live export market opportunities, the type of animal and standards of animal husbandry necessary for export and the logistics involved in the trade.

David Wright from DARD Quality Assurance Branch will be outlining the requirements for Beef Carcase Classification by Video Image Analysis (VIA), sometimes referred to as Mechanical Grading, what will be needed for the up-coming Machine Certification Test, and how the EC Control Committee will continue to monitor the performance of the machine

Business Seminars

Mairead O'Grady, MVB MRCVS will be talking about BVD control in suckler herds. She worked as a veterinary practitioner in a mixed practice in Northern Ireland for 8 years where the predominant focus was beef farming. She is Ruminant Technical Advisor for Intervet Schering Plough Animal Health since 2009.

Paul McHenry, Beef and Sheep Business Technologist at CAFRE, Greenmount Campus will be talking on Benchmarking and how it can help to improve the profitability of your farm business. Paul is responsible for managing the benchmarking system for beef and sheep farmers in Northern Ireland.

Roger Dallas, partner at Irwin Donaghey Stockman LLP, Chartered Accountants will be speaking on the tax implications of capital expenditure and will highlight inheritance tax and capital gains tax issues in respect of land ownership.

Stuart Boothman, Cogent Breeding Ltd will be talking about getting the best results from using Artificial Insemination - "inception to conception". Formed by the Duke Of Westminster in 1998 Cogent has established itself as a Global Dairy and Beef AI company, offering reproductive solutions to farmers and breeders. Pioneers of Sexed semen, the company has grown year on year and now exports to 42 countries worldwide. A Custom Collection service allows breeders to send their own bulls to the Cogent stud for semen.

Mark McLean, a Senior Agricultural Economist from Policy and Economics Division in DARD will be speaking on the subject of the Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) post 2013. In particular he will outline the main issues that will be considered such as the size of the CAP budget and the future of Single Farm Payment.

Justin McCarthy, Chief Livestock Editor with the Irish Farmers Journal and will be talking about business challenges affecting the beef farmer. His main Interests are profitable production of beef from the suckler herd and carrying out analysis of world beef production trends. After gaining an Honours Degree in Agricultural Science he gained experience in NZ and has worked in the meat processing sector in England and with Teagasc, the Irish Advisory Service in Athenry on the Teagasc/Dawn Meats beef programme.

Fergal Morris, MVB MRCVS will be talking about control of bovine respiratory disease. THE WINNING COMBINATION FOR FLUKE, WORMS AND LICE

Closamectin is the most effective combination product available for the treatment of late immature and adult liver fluke, worms and lice.

Available in both Injection and Pour on formulations it is a simple and effective way to control internal and external parasites.

Strategic treatment at housing and again 8-10 weeks into the grazing season, not only maximises the growth and performance of your cattle, but can help to control pasture contamination.
